Overview of German international climate finance 2022

The BMZ's climate commitment in figures

Germany's total contribution 2022

Climate finance total from public funds and from funds mobilised through public and private finance, e.g. in the form of revolving credit lines for local (development) banks, investment in structured funds and public-private partnerships. This represents Germany's total contribution to international climate finance and thus to the goal set by industrialised countries of providing $100 billion a year for climate protection and adaptation measures in developing countries.

International climate finance 2022

(Due to rounding differences, discrepancies may occur when adding sub-totals.)

A grant equivalent is a calculated value that represents the concessionality of an interest-subsidised loan compared with market terms.
